For more than 150 years, St. Ignatius Loyola Church and Saint Ignatius Loyola School have stood side by side on the Upper East Side. Their relationship has been as strong as the foundation upon which both were built so many years ago. They make up the faith community in which the next generation of Catholics is taught and nurtured. The pews where parishioners sit each week are the same ones where students, ranging from kindergarteners to eighth graders, sit for monthly school Masses. The messages proclaimed from the pulpit are strongly reinforced within the school each day.

Though many things in life have changed over the years, others have remained the same. Whenever I sit in the Church, whether during Mass or when spending a few moments alone, I often find myself looking at the mosaics on the walls. For a few moments I am transformed from a Saint Ignatius Loyola teacher into a Saint Ignatius Loyola School student. In the thirteen years since I graduated, the principal, pastor, and students have changed, but one abiding constant has been the desire to uphold the traditions and ideals of a Catholic education.

When Saint Ignatius Loyola School was first founded in 1854 it was not the remarkable structure that it is today. Over the years the school has undergone various renovations, including its most recent transformation into a building that includes over twenty-four state of the art classrooms accommodating more than 500 students. Looking at it now, it is hard to believe that the school actually began as a two-room schoolhouse staffed by a few lay teachers and four Sisters of Charity!

The number of religious teaching at Saint Ignatius Loyola School has fluctuated over the years and has included members from several different orders. When my sisters and I first entered the school the principal, as well as my first grade, second grade, and third grade teachers were all nuns. Being a student in their classes and witnessing their dedication to God helped me to respect and appreciate those who devoted their lives to God’s service. They helped me to grow in faith, a faith that has seen me through some of life’s happiest and most difficult times. Although the number of religious teaching in our school has declined, the desire to instill in students a love of God and the desire to serve Him continues through the present day.

Saint Ignatius Loyola School was never just a school to me. It was my second home, not only because I spent most of my days there, but because my family actively participated in its life. I was fortunate to be in the same school with my sisters and to have parents who recognized the importance of a Catholic education. To my family, as to many parish families, growing in faith was equally as important as growing intellectually, and the school successfully accomplished, and continues to accomplish, this goal.

Many of the most important memories that our students acquire during their years at Saint Ignatius Loyola take place not only in the school, but in the church as well. The annual Christmas pageant and the celebration of the Sacraments of Reconciliation, First Holy Communion, and Confirmation are some of the events that regularly bring our school and parish together.

When you walk through the corridors of the school you will find yourself in an environment that lends itself to learning, both academically and spiritually. The goal of Saint Ignatius Loyola School remains the same as it was more than 150 years ago: to create a dynamic and inclusive environment for an education that is rooted in Catholic faith and tradition.

Ignatian Young Adult Cookbook

The Ignatian Young Adults are putting together a professionally-bound cookbook with full-color photos containing more than 30 recipes for appetizers and desserts.

The IYAs hope to sell this cookbook at the Parish in the fall and are seeking ad sponsors. If you or your business would like to participate, please contact Katie Bignell at kbignell@gmail.com before Monday, June 13th.

Submission Guidelines

- All ads are a full page (8”x8”). A full-page ad that advertises multiple businesses is also possible.
- Ads are $100 per page. Checks should be made out to St. Ignatius Loyola Parish. Please write “IYA Cookbook Ad” in the memo section and leave it in an envelope with the submission form in care of Fr. SooHoo at the Parish House.
- There are two options for submitting ad content:
  1) Submit a print-ready high-res JPEG file
     - File must be at least 2400x2400 pixels, 300 dpi, and must be square.
     - Please note that up to a ½ inch of content may not be fully visible on the right or left side once the ad is placed in the bound book. We suggest leaving a ½ inch margin of non-essential content on both the right and left sides in order to ensure that your ad will be fully readable in the final cookbook.
  2) Submit content only and the IYAs will design a simple ad for you
     - Content must be the exact text you wish to appear in the ad. You may also include high-res JPEG files such as your company logo, product photos, etc. Please use the form found on the Parish website to submit content.

CATECHESIS OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD

Atrium Days:
Tuesdays, June 7th and June 14th
10:00 AM – 8:00 PM

Starting in September 2011, the Inter-parish Religious Education Program (IREP) of St. Ignatius Loyola will be offering a new program of religious formation for preschool children, ages 4 and 5. This is a Montessori-based set of activities in our new classroom space called the Atrium. The Catechesis of the Good Shepherd will draw its inspiration from the support of the Parish at large, as well as from the parents and the children who will participate.

There are many materials needed for use in the Atrium. There is a strong tradition within the Catechesis that all the materials be made from natural sources and that, as much as is practical, they be hand-made.

In keeping with this philosophy, we are looking for people who would like to participate in creating the Atrium at St. Ignatius. We hope to start the ball rolling by declaring Tuesday, June 7th and Tuesday, June 14th “Atrium Days.” We will have space and materials ready for your participation from 10:00 AM to 8:00 PM on each of these days. The time commitment is a minimum of two hours. Space is limited, so we will keep it to 6 or 7 people working at one time.

The work includes making and painting small clay figures, painting wooden figures, and finishing wood “furnishings.” In addition, we will need a few volunteers who can work on simple sewing and calligraphy projects at home.

If you are interested in participating, please contact Adele Gallo at amdgallo@me.com or 516-528-4660 and book a time slot.

If you would like to volunteer, but Tuesdays are not good for you, let us know. There will likely be alternate dates proposed later.
