“Building a Community of Disciples”

May 11, 2014

Fourth Sunday of Easter

Lay Ministers' Enrichment

The fundamentals of Catholic teaching challenge us to find meaning and truth in the Living Word as it relates to our faith. For many parishioners at St. Ignatius Loyola parish, this includes an invitation to service through ministry. And we are blessed to have dozens of ministries from which to choose, be it in an outreach program, liturgical ministry, music, or faith formation. But those who serve also need to be fed — to make sense of their calling to discipleship and service, to share their experiences with one other, and to break bread together through fellowship and through the Eucharist.

Since its inception in 2008, the core mission of Lay Ministers' Enrichment has been the same: utilizing the foundations of Ignatian Spirituality to build up the Body of Christ and strengthen the parish community by nourishing the spiritual lives of Lay Ministers, expanding Lay Ministers' understanding of the theological foundations of their faith and ministries, and assisting Lay Ministers in integrating the Gospel's call to discipleship into their daily lives. This takes the form of two or three Lay Ministers' Enrichment Days a year (October/January/April). An outstanding presenter from the staff of St. Ignatius Loyola or another religious or academic background leads each program. Past topics and presenters have included Baptism, Confirmation...Then What? (Rev. Walter Modrys, S.J.); Presence is Abundance: Engaging Life's Conversations (Sr. Vivienne Joyce, SC); Compassion: Facing Challenges in Life, Church, and Ministry (Rev. Tony D'Souza, S.J.); The Power of Invitation: Friendship and Ministry with Christ (Rev. Joseph Marina, S.J.).

One of the great responsibilities shared by the members of the Lay Ministers' Enrichment Committee is discerning the topics that will provide sustenance and inspiration to those serving in ministry. Typically the Committee's preparations begin the summer prior to the beginning of the academic year. The planning committee will meet, oftentimes in a retreat setting. This time away offers the committee an opportunity to reflect on where we are as a ministry, what we have already accomplished, and how we can best serve our parish's Lay Ministers in the months and years ahead.

This time of reflection also allows each committee member to reflect and pray on where the Spirit is leading him or her within the ministry. It is here that we begin to identify themes and possible presenters for the upcoming year. Many of our discussion points are also based on feedback that is provided by the participants from prior Lay Ministers' Enrichment programming.

As the calendar approaches September, preparations begin to ramp up, and in the weeks just prior to the first program of the year, many details are finalized. A Lay Ministers' Enrichment Day typically begins with a Continental breakfast at 9:30 AM in Wallace Hall. Programs generally include presentations by the day's speaker, time for private prayer, small-group faith sharing, and question-and-answer time with the presenter. Lunch is served between the morning and afternoon sessions. The program ends, usually with Mass, at about 3:00 PM. While it is a busy day from start to finish, each Lay Ministers' Enrichment program is filled with many graces and gifts that provide nourishment to the many participants who attend. It is also a gift for those of us who facilitate this ministry as we witness faith formation in action.

Our committee continues to be grateful to our fellow lay ministers and for our parish staff — especially Fr. Tom Feely, S.J., our staff liaison — all of whom have provided us with so much support and guidance. Thank you!
