This past Tuesday, December 8th, was a milestone for the Church for two reasons.

Of course December 8th is the Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception, the patronal feast of the United States. On December 8, 1854, Pope Pius IX defined the dogma of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Eight years earlier, at the 6th Council of Baltimore, the bishops of the United States chose Mary Immaculate as patroness of the country, and Pope Pius X confirmed this when the national shrine in Washington was planned in 1914. But these are milestones of long ago.

Last Tuesday Pope Francis opened the Jubilee Year of Mercy, and, as one concrete expression of God’s mercy and the Holy Father’s pastoral solicitude, the new legislation regarding the process for the declaration of the nullity of marriage went into effect. A word on each.

The Jubilee Year of Mercy, and its motto Merciful Like the Father, invites us to encounter the transforming grace of God’s mercy. The logo — the work of Jesuit Father Marko Rupnik — represents a blending of the Good Shepherd and the Good Samaritan. The Son takes upon his shoulder the lost soul, suffering humanity, and brings us salvation by sharing our flesh. The eyes of the Good Shepherd are merged with those of man. Christ sees with the eyes of Adam, and Adam with the eyes of Christ. We discover in Christ our own humanity and in his eyes we contemplate the love of the Father.

The scene is captured within the so-called mandorla (the shape of an almond), a figure quite important in early and medieval iconography, for it calls to mind the two natures of Christ, divine and human. The three concentric ovals, with colors progressively lighter as we move outward, suggest the movement of Christ who carries humanity out of the night of sin and death. Conversely, the depth of the darker color suggests the impenetrability of the love of the Father who forgives all.

In inaugurating this Jubilee Year of Mercy on the Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception, Pope Francis said, “The Virgin Mary was called to rejoice above all because of what the Lord accomplished in her. God’s grace enfolded her and made her worthy of becoming the Mother of Christ. When Gabriel entered her home, even the most profound and impenetrable of mysteries became for her a cause for joy, a cause for faith, a cause for abandonment to the message revealed to her. The fullness of grace can transform the human heart and enable it to do something so great as to change the course of human history.”

Prayer cards for the Jubilee Year of Mercy are available in the Narthex, and the special Holy Year activities in New York are listed on the Archdiocesan website.

On the same day, December 8th, new procedural norms for the declaration of marriage nullity came into force. The new legislation is, one could say, the first fruit of the Jubilee of Mercy. Pope Francis has spoken of “pastoral conversion” and by this he means more mission-oriented, more inclusive, and more open, inspiring pastoral workers to go forth and elicit “a positive response from all those whom Jesus summons to friendship with Himself” (Evangelii Gaudium). The structure of the nullity procedure is thus also renewed and simplified.

The principal innovations are:
1. One affirmative sentence (i.e., declaring the nullity of the marriage) is sufficient, abolishing the necessity of a mandatory review at the appeals level; this will reduce significantly the time factor.
2. A sole judge is sufficient, not a panel of three judges as heretofore; this will ease the case load on judges.
3. The easing of restrictions on determining where a trial can be held.
4. The possibility of an expedited procedure. When both parties agree to seek a declaration of nullity and where the facts and arguments are clear and convincing, the bishop may put aside the ordinary procedure.

This will not mean that it will be “easier” to receive a declaration of nullity of marriage in the sense of more lax parameters of judgment, but it is hoped that the renewed process will be more accessible, freer of bureaucratic delays and complications, and thus correspond to a ministry that seeks to bring the mercy of God to all.

These two milestones of the Church — a Jubilee of Grace and new legislation on marriage — have been set under the auspices of Mary, Mother of Mercy. May she who was conceived without sin assist us in encountering the mercy of God.
